

General Terms and Conditions for Use
&
Terms and Conditions For The Provision of Services

I. Introductory Provisions

1. The following are the general terms and conditions for using the <https://cuthrough.info> website for the provision of services made available through the said website, which hereinafter will be referred to as “Website”. Additionally, these terms and conditions include the mutual rights and obligations of the controller and user of services offered by the controller on the website, which hereinafter will be referred to only as “terms and conditions”.
2. CUTHROUGH HOLDINGS LIMITED is the sole provider of the website and all website services. The company’s office is registered at the following address: Katalanoy, 1, Floor 1, Flat 101, Aglantzia, 2121, Nicosia, Cyprus. Registration number: 424398 (hereinafter referred to only as the “controller”).

The controller can be contacted by writing to the following address:
Katalanoy, 1, Floor 1, flat 101, Aglantzia, 2121, Nicosia, Cyprus

Alternatively, the controller can be contacted by sending an email to their administrative email address: office@cuthrough.info

3. The controller provides the following services on the website:
 - The ability to search through catalogs, leaflets, brochures, and other promotional materials from third parties across various fields promoting the sale of their respective goods and provision of services (hereinafter referred to only as “flyers”);
 - The option to opt-in to receiving the actual flyers and other offers from third parties to the email address provided by the registered user;
 - The ability to search for information regarding the shops, offerings, and other information relating to the third-party platforms;
 - Access to other services that are not yet available on the website, but could potentially be added to the functionality of the website in the future (hereinafter referred to jointly as “services”).
4. The user of the website, which includes every person or legal entity who accesses the website or uses services provided by the controller on the website at any point in time, will be hereinafter referred to only as the “user”.

II. Basic Terms and Conditions of Website Usage

1. Access to the website and the usage of any aspect of the available services (e.g. searching for flyers and/or downloading them) is not limited to only registered users, and any user has the ability to use these services. However, there are additional services available to registered users to which non-registered users will not have access.
2. Usage of services available on the website is free of charge.
3. The controller does not guarantee the availability or accessibility to the website and can not be held liable for website downtime and/or any perceived consequences of such downtime.
4. The controller is not liable for the flyers provided by third parties or the nature of the information, which includes but is not limited to the accuracy, completeness, or whether the offerings are up-to-date. In the case of direct or indirect links that refer to websites of third parties, the controller is not liable and cannot be held liable for the content of such websites.
5. The user acknowledges that any text, graphics, music, or any other elements present on the website or available as part of any of the listed services can be subject to copyright either individually or in its entirety. Databases present on the website or available as part of the service are protected under the rights of the database procurer. The user is authorized to browse the website and utilize the listed services in compliance with the intended purpose of use. The user is not authorized to modify or interfere with the website or its contents in any manner.

III. User Registration For Available Services & Terms of Cancellation

1. Upon registration, the user is asked to enter his/her email address and express consent with the terms and conditions listed in this document in order to register for the newsletter. The user is not required to create an account and has the option to opt-in or opt-out of receiving flyers or newsletters about the services offered by the controller. The user can subscribe or unsubscribe from the newsletter at any point in time.
2. The controller logs the IP address of users who visit the website, as this information is automatically recognized by the webserver. The controller does not make this information available to third parties, nor does the controller store or capture the personal information of said users.

IV. Protection of Personal Data and User Privacy

1. The website and accompanying services will capture the email address of the user only if he/she voluntarily subscribes to the newsletter. These email addresses are treated as proprietary and confidential information. Upon subscription by the user, the newsletter service will send periodic emails that contain company news, third-party offerings, website updates, and additional information relevant to the services offered on the platform. The user can unsubscribe at any time by clicking the relevant link, which is located at the bottom of the newsletter emails. The email address of the user will never be shared with any third parties, regardless of a third party's association with the website or service offerings.

V. Final Provisions

1. The legal relationship between the controller and the user is governed by the law of the Republic of Cyprus, with the exclusion of the country's conflict of laws rules.
2. The controller retains the right to update, change, or modernize services without notifying the user prior to or after the changes are made. However, such changes must not constitute a breach of the user's rights.
3. The controller is entitled to change or update these terms and conditions on the grounds of any changes made to relevant legal regulations or business policies. The controller must ensure that any changes to the current terms or any new terms added are published on or before the date that policy changes come into effect.
4. Should any provision of these terms and conditions prove to be invalid, ineffective, or in need of being changed, it shall be without any reduction to the validity of the remaining provisions of said terms and conditions. Any legal provisions shall be as close as possible to the intention of the invalid provision, or of solving the potential errors present in the provisions being changed. The same principle on legal provisions shall be applied in the instance that any of the provisions of these terms and conditions is found unenforceable.
5. Any irregularities or disputes arising in connection with these conditions shall be settled by mutual agreement by the user and the controller. If no such agreement is able to be reached, all disputes will be ultimately decided by a court in the Republic of Cyprus, with Cyprus law operating as the governing law and decisive force over the dispute.